EXHIBITIONS

Collective Intricacies, a group exhibition curated by Tamara Steele, will be on display until June 3rd at Eptek Art & Culture Centre. Tamara Steele has worked for years at the Confederation Centre Art Gallery, and is the Executive Director at the Black Cultural Society of PEI. Collective Intricacies features work by Chester Hewlett, King Kxndi, Sammo Mossa, Baha Royalty, and Martology. Selected artworks are in a variety of mediums, including paintings, digital artwork, collage/multimedia, and animation. It is presented in partnership between this town is small and Eptek Art & Culture Centre. “In spite of its title, this exhibition is a celebration of individuality,” says Tamara Steele. “In the face of stereotypes, this exhibition attempts to combat the narratives that dictate that there is only one way to “be Black”. This exhibition pays homage to the intricate details of our various cultures, upbringings, and lived experiences that create, within each of us, our own distinct strengths, weaknesses, styles, and our own brands of creativity.” Small Wonders is also on display in the lobby exhibition space, into May. For this group show, members of the Summerside Art Club painted smaller-scaled artwork. Music PEI Album Art will be on display in the lobby next, featuring album art from this year’s album-related Music PEI nominees. Eptek Art & Culture Centre is a site of the Prince Edward Island Museum and Heritage Foundation and is located at 130 Heather Moyses Drive on the Summerside waterfront, adjacent to the Harbourfront Theatre. The site is open year-round. Current hours of operation are Tuesdays to Fridays 10 am to 4 pm, and most Sundays from noon to 4 pm. Exhibit admission is by donation (suggested donation $3). Please note: with the ever-changing COVID-19 situation, details are subject to change; there may be unexpected closures, or altered procedures.
